THE BALANCE SHEET

What about the balance sheet? Liquor was brought back to the American people because the lack of it legally was said to be an infringement upon our personal liberties. In addition we were told that the revenues would be a large item in meeting governmental expenditures, providing employment and otherwise aid in the restoration of prosperity.

What has been the result? Not so very good according to a dispatch from Chicago appearing in a recent issue of the Christian Science Monitor. Eliminating every other consideration and looking at the matter from the cold-blooded standpoint of dollars and cents here is what we find:

WHAT IT SHOWS
"Liquorized" motor accidents cost the United States at least $443,750,000 last year figures the American Business Men's Research Foundation, which has been doing a few sums to determine the financial damage caused by alcohol.
It comes out with the conclusion that the possible waste caused by liquor in the motor accident field is in a single year nearly $100,000,000 more than that received by the government in liquor internal revenue taxes in the same 12 months.

FOR TEN YEARS
The foundation emphasizes financial loss in this report, because so much emphasis has been given already to the loss of life from drunken driving. In a 10-year period, it says, the estimated total of motor traffic deaths chargeable to liquor is 73,208, or 29 fatalities every day. So appalling is this record that it has quite obscured the additional economic loss entailed, says the foundation.

For the same 10-year period, the financial loss due to all traffic mishaps reached the proportions of a wartime national debt of $14,661,650,000.

"Liquor's part in waste of life and property is daily becoming more and more evident," says the foundation. "Original estimates of various safety organizations, that only from 5 to 10 per cent of motor accidents are in any way due to beverage alcohol, have been discredited by recent carefully studied blocks of consecutive accidents, which indicate that frequently liquor plays an undoubted part in as many as 50 per cent of such cases."

RESPONSIBLE FACTOR
"Declining to accept the 50 per cent proportion of accidents charged to liquor in recent scientific appraisals of actual accidents, the foundation assumes it is reasonable to estimate that alcohol may actually figure in at least 25 per cent of these accidents."

Reckoning on this 25 per cent basis, the foundation finds as follows:

"Beverage alcohol during the last 10 years may be found to have been a responsible factor in motor-traffic accident killing of 73,208 persons."

"Loss, aggregating approximately $3,664,125,000 of financial waste in the 10 years of motor traffic accident records, ending on December 31, 1934, may fairly be charged to the account."

U.S. May Lose Halibut Market To Canadians

SEATTLE, March 23.—Capture of the United States halibut market by Canadian fishermen was a possibility today as 32 vessels left British Columbia ports for the Alaska fishing grounds — while America's great halibut fleet remained inactive.

Holding out for a set minimum price and meanwhile negotiating in Washington over a plan to stabilize the market of freezing a large part of their catch for later sale, Puget Sound and Alaska halibut fishermen were determined to make a stand for recovery of their industry.

The fishing season for halibut opened on March 1.

Injured in an automobile accident in El Cerrito a week ago, Edward Harlow, well known former Richmond young man, died at an Albany hospital shortly before 9:30 last evening.

Death was caused by a fractured skull, cuts, bruises and internal injuries, it was reported. It was at first believed that Harlow would recover but yesterday he suffered a sudden relapse. Despite expert medical attention, he succumbed.

Townsend Plan Is Scoffed At By Labor Chief

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Ridicule of the California legislature's stand in approving the Townsend Plan was voiced by Paul Sharenberg, State Federation of Labor secretary, in a talk before the Commonwealth Club here.

"It would take half the national income," said the labor leader, "to make it work."
He blamed capitalists of industry for refusing to consider a "simple" remedy for social insecurity in continued unemployment, health and old age relief problems. He said a "more equitable distribution of wealth" is the simple remedy.

Not Too Close

THAT'S THE manner in which Madam Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, greeted cameramen as she arrived in San Francisco for a visit. "I hate a picture that looks like me," Madam Perkins was greeted by Robert G. Sproul, president of the University of California.

Miss Perkins Says Labor Will Be Aided

BERKELEY, March 23.—UP—American labor today received the assurances of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins that the Roosevelt new deal will insure its right to collective bargaining with employers.

Urging "self-determined and independent labor unions to negotiate with groups and organizations of employers," Miss Perkins delivered the annual charter day address in the University of California Greek Theater.

Miss Perkins, former President Herbert Hoover, Jane Addams (Chicago), renowned Hull House social worker, and Joseph Cummings Rowell, University archivist, received honorary degrees during the charter day ceremonies. All were attired in academic caps and gowns for the presentation.

Miss Perkins' topic was "The Status of Labor in Modern Society."

Nope, Sorry But 1922 Penny Will Not Buy A Ford

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, director of the Mint, would like it distinctly understood that you can't buy a motor car for a 1922 penny.

Lately she has been harassed by hundreds of letters from persons laboring under the impression that holders of 1922 pennies are entitled to one Ford car for each penny.

Someone has spread the rumor that only 200 cents of this particular vintage were coined and that Henry Ford, already the possessor of 150, wanted to acquire the remainder.
As a matter of fact, exactly 7,160,000 pennies were coined in 1922.

31 TANKERS NOW DOCKED IN STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—UP—Hanging on the issue of union recognition, a marine strike as widespread as that which choked Pacific coast ports from Seattle to San Diego last summer threatened tonight.

Thirty-one tankers were tied up in coast ports, with the threat that unless federal mediators are successful in arbitrating the International Seamen's Union walkout in the tankers by early next week, passenger liners and general cargo vessels will be involved through a strike of marine radio operators.

FIGHT IS ON

In the background was the powerful International Longshoremen's Union, whose fight for higher wages, shorter hours and joint control of hiring halls precipitated the 1934 San Francisco general strike and the coastwide marine strike, resulting in death to nearly a dozen men and widespread losses to industry and commerce.

The I. L. A. it was understood, desires to continue work under the federal longshoremen's award which followed last summer's walkout, but indisputably is ready to strike now to repay the debt of alliance it owes other marine unions for their cooperation last year.

WATCHFUL WAITING

Harry Bridges, militant I. L. A. president who led last year's strike, announced the I. L. A. policy as one of "watchful waiting."
"We expect to support the striking unions," Bridges said, "but no action has been taken. However, it is improbable that we would attempt to load ships that are being picketed by other union men."

Announcement of the impending walkout of radio operators was (Continued on Page 5)

Householder Fed Up On Thefts Of Flowers, Houses

John Roeder of 2129 Nevins avenue, is completely "fed up" on human nature and its various quirks.

Roeder has in his back yard a complete miniature village and gardens, built on an accurate scale and completed with all the trimmings of a real city. The village has been Roeder's hobby. Hundreds of local residents have viewed it and have complimented the owner.

Several weeks ago Roeder reported to police that someone had stolen one of the little houses, a concrete building from the village. In addition, Roeder reported, someone had been stealing shrubs and flowers from the garden.

Then, yesterday came the crowning blow. A 15 gallon drum which Roeder used to store water, oil or materials, was stolen.

Roeder immediately announced that he was going to take steps to prevent these thefts, even if he was forced to sit up all night with a shotgun in his hands to protect his property.

"The next person who attempts to steal anything from my garden is going to be met with a warm reception," Roeder warned.

Dick For, owner of a grocery store at 119 Richmond avenue reported to police yesterday that someone entered his store on Friday night and stole $10 from the cash register.

Hoover Urges Re-Birth Of G. O. P. Party

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—UP—Rejuvenation of the Republican party was urged by Herbert Hoover and Col. Theodore Roosevelt today when they called upon the youth of the party to prevent a drift from American principles of government.

The former president, in a message to the California Republican assembly said the party faced its greatest crisis since the days of Abraham Lincoln. He declared the re-birth of the party transcended any personal interests or the selfish interests of any group and demanded a return to "economic common sense."

Mr. Hoover criticized the Democrats. (Continued on page 3)

Livestock Quiz By State Solons Now Under Way

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—The special senate committee investigating ownership of stockyards and distribution and marketing of agricultural products was in session here today, with A. B. Miller, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture, summoned as the first of a group of witnesses.

Senator D. Jack Metzger, of Tehama county, chairman of the committee, said in a statement.

"In our three previous hearings we have heard the testimony of all of those connected with the marketing and processing of livestock. This hearing will be devoted to the growers. Numerous requests have reached the committee from men engaged in the livestock industry, requesting to be heard by the committee, and the opportunity will be given them at this hearing. I am advised that many growers from all over the state will be present to present their side of the problem of marketing livestock to the senate committee."

MEASURE IS GIVEN OKAY BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, March 23.—UP—The Senate passed the $1,880,000,000 work relief bill today with a billion dollar inflation amendment tacked on as a rider.

The billion dollar proposal was accepted by administration leaders to cut short debate which has tied up the bill for more than a month. They hoped to eliminate it in conference with the house.

INFLATION MEASURE

The inflation feature was a compromise submitted by Senator Elihu Root, D. Okla., after his first proposal for arbitrary purchase of 30,000,000 ounces of silver a month by the treasury was tabled.

The administration accepted the Thomas compromise and immediately whipped through a final vote on the relief bill. The vote was 68 to 16 with Senator Carter Glass, D. Va., in nominal charge of the measure during its stormy progress, voting against it.

RESH TACTICS

Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson adopted hard-boiled tactics to win the measure through to a final vote. High pressure shut off debate, using tendencies to filibuster.

The bill appropriates the largest lump sum ever voted to an American president for single-handed administration. Final Senate debate came under the threat that Senator Huey P. Long, D. La., might rush back to Washington for a last minute stand against the bill. Stern tactics of Robinson prevented such a possibility.

The two amendments accepted without opposition were a compromise on the Thomas inflation proposal and an amendment by Senator Pat McCarran, D. Nev., which would subject all high administrative posts of the work-relief set up to Senate approval.

Army Mechanic Is Crushed By Runaway Plane

SAN RAFAEL, March 23.—(UP)—Sam M. Woolard, veteran mechanic at the army air base here, was crushed to death today by a "runaway" plane.

The plane, with a mechanic in the seat, started rolling down the concrete runway. Woolard was directly in its path. Before he could help warning shouts the plane struck him, breaking his neck and fracturing his skull.

Woolard, attached to the 31st Air Squadron, enlisted 15 years ago. He leaves a widow and two children.

TURKS PLAN TO FORTIFY STRAIT ZONE

By UNITED PRESS
Latest developments in the European crisis follow:

Britain, France and Italy agree on a united front to bring Germany back to the family of nations and prevent war by mutual agreements of security and not aggression.

Mussolini gives his answer to Germany by calling a new class of the colors, raising Italy's army to a strength of 600,000. Italy is prepared to call other classes, creating a force of nearly 2,000,000 effectives, counting the Fascist militia.

London hears that Turkey is tending to follow Germany's example in disregarding the Versailles Treaty by fortifying the demilitarized Dardanelles Straits zone.

ITALY CALLS TROOPS

ROME, March 23.—UP—Italy called the entire military class 1911 to the colors today, raising her active army to 600,000 men. In addition, 400,000 Fascist militia are available. The militia is like the United States national guard, not in service but subject to call. Thus Italy could throw more than 1,000,000 men into the field on short notice.

Premier Benito Mussolini emphasized Italy's strength and her ability to prevent war by her too strong to be attacked, in speech to a gathering of black shirt Fascists.

"DENISE PEACE"

"Let it be clear," he said, "our desire for peace and European collaboration is backed by several million bayonets."

Mussolini was dressed as a corporal of the militia on the occasion. (Continued on Page 8)

AID WILL BE SENT TO DUST STORM REGION

DENVER, Colo., March 23.—(UP)—Red cross officials and state authorities tonight were preparing to extend aid to suffering hundreds of people in the southwestern Colorado, focal point for a fortnight past of swirling dust storms which carried death in their yellowish clouds.

Available reports from the area, however, indicated that the situation had been alleviated to some degree within the last 24 hours, and additional deaths from the dread "dust pneumonia" which had claimed 45 lives in the stricken area were not anticipated.

DUST BRINGS DEATHS
Denver health authorities, indeed, expressed belief that constant breathing of the dust-laden air does not in itself induce anything worse than sore throats, parched mouths and cracked lips.

To a person ill from pneumonia or other disease, however, the dust might well bring death, physicians said, by causing further lung irritation and making breathing difficult. It was believed that the six deaths already recorded fell in this category. In those cases of which full details were known, it was said, the dead persons had been ill even before the dust storms struck.

Reports from Springfield, Colo., center of the wind-swept desert of more than 2,000,000 acres which has come into being within recent days in a once fertile farming section, said that the wind was less intense today, that the sky was clearer than for two weeks, and that the estimated one hundred lives in the area appeared improving.

ROADS PASSABLE
Roads were passable in most cases, although a few highways still were choked with the drifted dust, and physicians were able to reach their patients. The six doctors in Baca county still worked at top speed, but they believed they had the situation in hand, unless renewed violent dust storms should occur.

Governor Edwin C. Johnson, who last night said the state would send any aid needed, including oxygen tents, nurses and additional doctors, today said he believed the undoubtedly serious situation had been exaggerated to some degree by excited county authorities.

"I know the situation still is very serious," the Governor said. "We will do anything we can to help, but authorities at Springfield have indicated they do not need medical help and equipment at this time."

Red Cross authorities here, who last night telegraphed to St. Louis headquarters that organization asking aid, also said the situation appeared improved.

Long-Bell Firm Will Reorganize Under New Plan

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 23.—(UP)—The reorganization plan of the Long-Bell Lumber company, once the largest lumber concern in the world, was filed today with Federal Judge Merrill E. O'Leary.

DEFENSE OF LOWDOWN ON LAMSON TO HUEY LONG IS OPEN CASE TOLD BY SENATOR

SEN. JESSE MCKENZIE, D-La., tonight told the Senate that the defense of Huey P. Long against the charges of "lowdown" on the late Senator John H. Lamson, was open to the public. He said that the defense would be held in the Senate chamber at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

FEW WITNESSES

The prosecution has only a few more witnesses to call before it rests its case. Still by some through about 100 witnesses of testimony, the State has attempted to show that Lamson committed suicide by a piece of pipe removed from a window he rented on his property, and was dead in three hours, on the day of the "lowdown" case.

Dr. Frederick Freese, the State's star scientific witness, till was on the stand when court recessed for the week of last Friday. Portions of his testimony were punctuated under cross-examination by thrusts of Chief Defense Counsel Edwin A. McKen-

RECAP FOR LAMSON

McKenzie, however, in his first school's strategy, that he found indisputable traces of blood on the pipe found in the house, but that Allen, in his own hand, had the blood in his hand, and that the blood was not of the same type as the blood found on the pipe.

Second in importance to the prosecution was the alleged "lowdown" which prosecutors insist was a "lowdown" on Lamson, between Lamson and his wife, Tammany, concerning Lamson's association with Sara Kelley, Lamson's divorcee, which reached a sensational peak this week when a university telephone operator told of overhearing a conversation between the two, in which Lamson assertedly told the divorcee he loved her, and "didn't give a damn if the whole world knew it."

TRACE MOVEMENT

Lamson's movements immediately preceding his wife's death also are expected to provide another point for his counsel to clear. The State has subpoenaed records of a San Francisco hotel and is expected to attempt to show that Lamson registered there with a woman other than his wife on January 2, 12, 17, and May 24, 1932.

The defense will present its own scientific and medical experts to counteract testimony of those called by the State. State attorneys declared two fractures in Mrs. Lamson's skull could have resulted from blows with a pipe and that blood spots in the bathroom were similar to those which would be made by blood spurring from a falling weapon.

DEFENSE STAND

The defense will show, by the time of testimony, that Mrs. Lamson could have been injured by striking her head in a fall and that the spattered blood might have resulted from arterial spurts. McKenzie also claims to have an iron-clad alibi for Lamson, supported by "seven or eight" witnesses in the hotel episode, should it be brought up. He admits the account of the telephone conversation was "a severe blow" to the defense.

SOVIETS SIGN JAP TREATY ON RAILWAY LINE

TOKYO, March 23.—(UP)—The troublesome far eastern problem involved in operation of the Chinese Eastern railroad appeared solved today with the formal signing of a tripartite agreement covering transfer of the road to Manchukuo.

Represented in the important transfer were Japan, the Soviet republic and Manchukuo. Four documents were signed by Koki Hirota, Japanese foreign minister; Ambassador Konstantin Yurenev, of Russia, and M. S. V. Tingo, Manchukuo's minister to Japan.

International statesmen believed the sale pointed toward peace in East Asia—forming a wedge for a closer accord between the Soviet and Japan, including eventual Soviet recognition of Manchukuo. The paper signed provided that Russia shall receive approximately $100,000,000 for its half share in the railroad and properties. Hirota presented the Russian representative with a check for $5,750,000 as part payment on the first installment of the purchase price.

Another paper gave Manchukuo title to the railroad, 1,036 miles long and crossing Manchukuo from the western border at Manchouli to the eastern border at Pokronichnaya, Siberia. Title of buildings owned by the road was included.

A third paper bore upon Japan's moral guarantee of Manchukuo's payments. The final paper cleared up details involving transfer of the railways and other relatively minor matters.

Statesmen admitted that the transfer virtually implied recognition of Manchukuo by the Soviet, but all reference to this was avoided by the representatives of the three factors.

Dresser Estate To Be Distributed

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—Overruling objections of Mrs. Bontia Ganthony of London to the $10,000 funeral given her sister, the late Marie Dressler, movie actress, Superior Judge H. Parker Wood today ordered a partial distribution of the $192,305.86 remaining in the actress' estate.

Mrs. Ganthony objected to the expenditure of more than $10,000 from the estate, contending such a sum was extravagant, also would reduce the benefit she would receive under the will.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON, March 23.—One worry the Administration does in regard to Germany is the fact that the American Embassy in Berlin is one of the most poorly staffed in Europe. Its reports seldom give a clear picture of what is going on in the German capital.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT

By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, March 23.—The city uncovered a "phantom village" several weeks ago, but it was the wrong scandal.

Over in Queens is a stretch of swamp land called Maspeth Village. Arnold Rothstein, the gambler, bought this land before he was murdered and back in 1924 he built some houses on the property.

The city investigated this property in 1929 and found that the buildings were a row of fake houses, without foundations. Recently the Rothstein estate tried to sell the land to the city. A line and very was raised that Rothstein had built the "phantom village" in order to claim that the land was "improved" property and thus defeat the city in the sale valuation.

U.S. Historian Believes War In Europe Is Near

PITTSBURGH, March 23.—Dr. Charles A. Beard, chronicler of American history, looked upon the international situation today and voiced his belief that the war is as close as it ever was in Germany.

The author of "The Rise and Fall of American Civilization" says he sees Europe, "where the tension is greater than 1914," not far from armed conflict.

As for the United States, Dr. Beard said that although "President Roosevelt will want to keep out of it," the reaction of Americans "which they get a smell of the war profits," cannot be predicted.

CHAPTER XXXIV
"JOHN! Ranny! What are you doing?"
Carol's voice rang out sharply in the room. On the instant, John and Ranny stopped struggling, and turned to stare at her incredulously. Then, with one accord, they jumped to their feet, looking rather sheepish.

Ranny spoke first. "My sorry with a little now. I must apologize for my behavior. Dolly."

"Oh, I'm sure it's nothing but a little foolishness," Miss Winthrop said quickly. "Carol don't look at it as a ghost."

Carol smiled grimly. She was looking at John.

"I'm waiting for an explanation," she said. "I have unusually sharp ears, and I think I heard my name mentioned as we came in."

John finally found his voice. "Yes," he said. "You did hear it mentioned. I told Sterling to stay away from you."

Charges are Moderate

It is well to remember that a beautiful mortuary does not mean high prices, as this firm proves. With all the refinements and comforts to be found here, charges are never higher than the smallest incomes can easily afford. By including everything in one plainly marked price, we have made it possible for every family to make an appropriate selection without financial hardship.

Lesson Subject At The Science Church

"Woe unto him that saith to the wood, Awake; to the dumb stone, Arise, I shall teach thee. Behold, it is laid over with gold and silver, and there is no breath at all in the midst of it." These words from Habakkuk comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, March 24, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Matter." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Jesus answered. Verily, verily, I say unto thee. Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit" (John 3:5, 6).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The foundation of mortal discord is a false sense of man's origin. To begin rightly is to end rightly. Every concept which seems to begin with the brain begins falsely. Divinity is mind is the only cause or Principle of existence. Cause does not exist in matter, in mortal mind, or in physical forms" (p. 262).

Driver's Note Brings Forced Court Hearing

PARLO ALTO, March 23.—(UP)—Last week, Oden Mills, former secretary of the treasury, was stopped here for driving 23 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone. An officer tore up the ticket when Mills told him who he was.

A few days later A. S. W. Grundy of San Bruno was tagged for failure to stop at a red light.

He sent in his $1 check to Police Judge John E. Springer with the comment he wished he were a millionaire like Mr. Mills.

Now, Mr. Grundy not only has to explain the red light, but also why he sent a letter instead of showing up in court.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

Feet, the Servants of Man, Need Some of the Care Lavished on the Face and Hands

WHICH direction shall we set the ball of discussion rolling today? Oh, yes, "scalded feet," "tetter on the hands" call for attention to those who suffer from this wretchedness of the extremities. In my climate this is a good time of the year to develop either of these troubles.

It seems that the old-fashioned ankle supporting health protecting topped shoe is no longer made. Of course, it is not the manufacturer's fault. He makes anything he can sell. But even the plain that no high topped shoes are furnished.

Then the low shoes must be tied more snugly to keep out the snow and cold and a heavier sock or stocking worn inside of the tight shoe. At least, this is the usual situation.

Scalded feet mean that the circulation is impaired for some reason and the feet are too warm. Some of the trouble could be due to a too sensitive skin or a too prolonged standing in one position until the circulation is interfered with.

Whatever the cause, the first thing necessary is improved care of these servants, the feet. Frequent washing, occasional real soaking, and generous rubbing are all in the list of remedies.

NO PART of the body is so likely to collect dust and infection as do the feet. They suffer from bruises and calluses, from faulty support, and protection. They are usually neglected according to their needs and your real comfort, but entirely according to what fashion dictates or your pocketbook allows.

You can at least bathe them once a day. If you have only one change of shoes make the most of it, and see that the linings are dried between changes. Use various home remedies in the bath water like lemon juice or salt or ammonia. Half a lemon rubbed over the rough spots will do wonders. Don't you often save them to rub on the hands?

This reminds me to ask you, why do we spend millions yearly for cosmetics and think of them always as belonging to the face and hands? Why not cleansing creams and fresheners, protective creams and tonic lotions for the feet? They really need more than the hands do, but because we cover them up we forget them until they begin to hurt.

Suppose you follow some of the directions usually given for a facial treatment. Pure soap and warm water to remove the grime. A good cleansing cream or just plain oil is then applied generously. Watch for surface relax and soften under it.

THEN, and this certainly counts, after removing the absorbed cream or oil bathe with a skin freshener. Witch hazel, bay rum, plain alcohol, are all good though your best skin tonic is none too good for your feet. Turpentine or camphor will heal the sore spots.

When the feet are dry and have been rubbed well, powder carefully. If you can't use an expensive face powder, combine a teaspoonful of soda and one of borax with two tablespoons of corn starch. Blend and apply with a shaker. If you didn't know how cheap it is you would think it wonderful. If the toes perspire, put strips of dry cotton in between. Never wear old shoes too long. The foot mechanism is a wonderful piece of engineering, but one bone out of balance may damage the whole structure.

If you cannot have new shoes, at least have the old heels straightened and don't let the soles wear too thin. If you wear fancy the strap sandals, be sure the straps come where they provide the needed support for the arches and toes.

Well, we never get to the tetter on the hands so we must leave it to another day. Finally, a good foot powder contains zinc oxide and starch. For a good soaking bath use a 1 to 5,000 solution of permanganate of potash.

Guide to Charm

SMART HAIRCUT HELPS IMPROVE GIRL'S BEAUTY

By JACQUELINE HUNT

ALL girls cannot be pretty, but nearly all can be smart. Many girls do not realize this! You only know that your carriage is none too graceful, your profile is far from what you want it to be, and your features frankly irregular. So you try all the more desperately to be pretty. You try to soften your irregular features with fluffy hair and pretty clothes and you become discouraged because you realize that the result is not what you want it to be. Stop trying to be what nature didn't intend you to be, and set out to be the smartest girl in your group. And don't do it halfway! Go to the best hair shop in your town or to a good barber and discuss the latest haircuts with him. Have your hair cut so that it molds your head and makes your profile more interesting.

A boyish cut with sculptured ringlets, or a flatter bob brushed straight off the forehead with only the ends terminating in neat, well-controlled finger curls are both good suggestions, especially if your nose is a little larger than you want it to be. Whatever style you select, be sure that it is clean-cut and distinctive.

The next step in your smartness campaign is a new wardrobe. Fortunately, the shops are already showing spring suits, coats and frocks. Equip with a carefully fitted suit or fairly light material that you can wear under a winter coat for a few weeks yet until the days become sunny again. Have everything that you buy smooth fitting, a little severe and with daring touches in the details or colors.

Bold colors and sharp contrasts are best, black and white, black and red or gray and red are good combinations. Choose firm fabrics like hard-surfaced woolsens, tweeds, pique, some knitted silks, satin, cotton, and the hard, crinkly silks are all good for you.

Have few trimmings on your dresses, hats or gloves. For a contrasting note you can wear the pretty costume jewelry that has become increasingly popular the last few years, and you can wear earrings, big ones or little ones as the mood strikes you. The bright, sparkling synthetic stones are good for you.

The woman who wants to be smart should be more careful about her diet, since she should be eating right. Wear a foundation garment to keep any unsightly bulges of flesh about your waistline under control.

Do not be afraid to pay a good price for simple cut materials and good styles are smart as long as they last. And you can make them look like new simply by having several complete sets of accessories. Choose flat shoes.

With make-up you can do exciting things, but we'll save that for tomorrow's column.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., Stirs Mayfair With His Latest Book, But He's Done It Before

THE original Cornelius Vanderbilt ran a ferry between Staten Island and New York, and from that start one of America's most famous families sprang. Nowadays, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., brings the family name into perhaps stranger pathways than it has ever taken. With the publication recently of his book, "Farewell to Fifth Avenue," the youngest member of the clan takes his life in hand by naming what he considers the leading seventy-five families in society. The commissions and omissions of that book have furnished a real conversational dueling matter for Mayfair, and they are at it even now. Mr. Vanderbilt, Jr., has supplied ignominious material. He has seemed to believe that he was born to take his pen in hand for the purpose of stirring up the human animal. A few years back, following a preliminary period of newspaper reporting, he used his personal fortune to start a tabloid in Florida. One night, after a series of sensational episodes, as the paper was being put away the news editor remarked: "The funeral's tomorrow."

It was. The paper folded up, and Cornelius came to New York and lived in a hall bedroom for a year. Then, however, another $3,000,000 came to him and he was off again. He began writing in book form. In 1930 he published "Reno," in which he said "marriage is a funny game that requires a deep sense of humor."

Mr. Vanderbilt, as in everything else he does, shows no fear. He recently took a third bride, Miss Helen Varner of Clarkburg, W. Va., and they are now honeymooning all over the United States. They were married in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The dashing Vanderbilt has still other interests. Besides writing, he runs a dude ranch in Nevada, and last year he found time enough to visit Europe and make a motion picture which was released as "Hitler's Reign of error."

Gray Worsted Suits, Strictly Tailored, Are Headed for Popularity This Spring

BRIMS ARE HAVING THEIR DAY.

By IRENE VAIL

New York—There are so many dressmaker-suits and so many ensembles that when one talks of suits the old reliable or classic type is apt to be overlooked. But not in London and not in Paris either, for your native Parisienne invariably has a spring suit, and it's usually gray.

I fancy you will see plenty of gray menswear suits and so many other than in London and Paris from now on. You'll see gray flannel ones, too, and the usual quota of novelty woolsens and tweeds, also more than the usual number of knitted suits, boucle preferred.

Tailors are binding suits again with braid, and you hardly need to be told that they are turning out all manner of caped models, some coats with cape back and other suits with detachable capes. The longer coat with cape back is in lively demand.

Sketched today are eight new styles. 1. Padded brim broton of navy paillasson with velvet band and bow and veil falling below the chin. 2. Bonnet of black baki with the back turned up against the crown. 3. Capeline of natural leghorn bound with ruby velvet and with a cluster of red velvet flowers. 4. Afternoon hat of pink crystal with a cluster of mauve and pink violets. 5. Peaked crown, saucer brimmed shape of yellow felt with straw facing. 6. Tailored saucer brim in black paillasson, the brim faced in black, white, and green belting ribbon. 7. Sailor of shiny black paillasson bound at the edge with Roman striped silk ribbon. 8. Brown semi-rough straw sailor with intricately fashioned brown belting cocarde.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "Can you suggest a good color of lipstick for me? I have no difficulty finding a good rouge, but lipsticks all seem to be too reddish or purple. My hair is bright auburn and I have a light, creamy skin.—G. A."

Can't you find a clear scarlet with just the faintest suggestion of orange? I imagine that you have been selecting the darker lipsticks when the lighter shades would be better. There is a new lipstick called "redhead" that is lovely with most shades of red hair. It has a slightly brownish cast that you might find enchanting.

QUESTION: "Please help me improve my hands. I do not do much rough work, yet my hands are crisscrossed with deep lines and the skin is always rough and dingy looking. I am getting so self-conscious about them that I hate to go out.—Mrs. B. G."

The skin on the hands naturally tends to be drier than that on the rest of the body so it requires more attention. Are you always careful to wear gloves when you go out? This is a frequent cause of roughness and discoloration. When you have your beauty nap, scrub the hands thoroughly and soak in warm olive oil or massage with a rich cream and slip on a pair of loose clean cotton mittens. When you get up wipe off the excess oil or cream and apply a hand lotion. Rub the hands with the inside of a cut lemon to remove the discoloration.

Will "M. P." of Berkeley, Calif., please send me a self-addressed envelope for a personal reply? It is impossible for me to give trade names in my columns. When you write, please repeat your questions and ask me to send you my leaflet on reducing.

Pineapple Juice Adds Fresh, New Flavor to Old Recipes

By JUDITH WILSON

IF YOU want to add a delightful new flavor and freshness to your own tried and true recipes or wish to experiment with some sure-fire new ones, buy yourself a supply of canned pineapple juice and get busy. Pineapple juice is becoming increasingly popular in this country. Not only is it a perfect breakfast appetizer, but it adds a delicate and subtle flavor to desserts, ices, pastries and meat dishes.

Many homemakers like to buy it by the case, and keep several cans always chilling in the refrigerator for a quick cocktail, fruit cup or dessert. Try pineapple juice in the following recipes and see how good it is!

Fruit Stuffing

Pare, core and chop finely four large apples. Blend with two cups dry bread crumbs, one teaspoon powdered sage, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika and the grated rind of a lemon. Moisten with one cup of pineapple juice and use to stuff the cavity of a duck, goose or boned shoulder of pork.

Veal Cutlets Hawaiian

Wash one cup of the long-grained rice and put in a cooking pot with three and one-half cups pineapple juice to which four tablespoons of butter, one small onion chopped fine and salt and pepper have been added. As soon as the rice is tender, remove from the fire and cool slightly, then stir in one-half cup of grated cheese and two cups cooked chicken or veal. Add a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce or a few drops of tabasco if you want a highly seasoned cutlet.

Shape into croquettes or cutlet shapes, roll in cracker crumbs, then in egg yolk beaten with two tablespoons milk and again in cracker crumbs. Fry in deep fat until golden brown. Drain on brown paper and serve piping hot on a platter and serve with a white sauce which has been made savory by the addition of one teaspoon chopped parsley, one teaspoon finely chopped green pepper, and one-half teaspoon chopped scallion or chives and one chopped hard-cooked egg. Garnish the platter with parsley and slices or wedges of tomato.

Pineapple Icebox Cake
Whip one cup of cream until very stiff, add one-half teaspoon vanilla and set in a cool place. Dissolve two tablespoons powdered gelatin in four tablespoons water over hot water, stir in two cups pineapple juice, one-half cup sugar, six drops lemon juice and the grated rind of a lemon and garnish with a pinch of salt. Place the bowl containing the mixture in a pan of ice water and beat until the mixture begins to thicken. Then add the whipped cream and three slices of pineapple cut into small pieces. Turn into a mold and chill in a refrigerator pan until firm. Turn onto a cold platter and slice to serve. The mold may be garnished with additional whipped cream if you wish.

Pineapple Juice Cocktail
Chill the juice thoroughly and have your glasses cold shake the can well before opening. Pour over chilled ice and garnish with your most attractive glasses each serving with fresh mint leaves, a bit of crushed pineapple, a maraschino cherry or a preserved or fresh strawberry. This makes a beautiful first course for luncheon or supper. Serve with light savory canapés if you wish.

Pineapple Sauce
Use this sauce over fruit fritters, steamed puddings or between split layers of plain cake. Boil two cups pineapple juice with a piece of lemon rind and in another pan melt five tablespoons of sugar to a light brown color. Then add the pineapple juice and boil for a few minutes. Mix two teaspoons cornstarch to a paste with a little cold water and pour into the sauce to thicken. Cook for five minutes and remove from the fire. Add the juice of a lemon, stir well and strain. This is good hot or cold.

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "How should the tea service be arranged on a tea wagon?"—Mrs. L. P.

ANSWER: Place the tea service on the upper shelf, the teapot so that it will be on the right of the one serving, with the hot-water kettle just in back of it. The sugar and cream go at the back of the tray. The cups and saucers in sets of two are placed at the left. Always leave space to set a cup and saucer in front of the kettle. On the lower shelf place the plates, napkins, extra cups and saucers, dainty sandwiches or iced cakes, fruit.

QUESTION: "In setting the table, what's the correct place for the glass?"—K. L.

ANSWER: At the right, near the point of the knife or a little to the right of the point. If a second glass is used for wine, place it just below the water-glass and a little to the right.

QUESTION: "When should the table be crumpled?"—Lottie B.

ANSWER: Following the sale course, and to make way for the dessert.

You and Your Child

MOTHER'S TALK CAUSES BOY TO HIDE THOUGHTS

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

"BOBBY never talks about himself." That's his mother's plaint. Other children with lower marks in school and far less to brag about make lively talk of their affairs. But Bobby just sits back and lets them get all the credit while he chews his underlip or nibbles a fingernail.

To understand Bobby you have to know his mother. Physically decided in her likes and dislikes, she is energetic, ambitious, but that is as far as the resemblance goes. For in personality they are directly opposite. Mother is an enthusiastic talker, decided in her likes and dislikes. She is energetic, ambitious.

She would like the boy to show a little more life. And to pep him up she works hard at drawing him out. "Where were you? Who was there? What did you do? What did he say? And then what did you say?"

and so on ad infinitum. She does not know it, but the more she works on him the more reticent Bobby gets. Sometimes she even goes so far as to try guessing the answers, depending on him to shake or nod his head to let her know whether she is wrong or right.

And then, how do you suppose she uses the information. To build up her son's reputation of course. She feels it her duty to discuss his achievements if he won't. She is his mother, isn't she? I have no doubt that her motive is unselfish; that she hopes thereby to give him self-confidence and make him more popular. But in her zeal she overlooks the effect on the boy. How by forcing confessions she is making him more introverted, strengthening the very quality which she seeks to correct.

A parent should not pry into a child's affairs. After all, he does not have to tell you everything, only what he wants to tell or what he thinks you ought to know. A child is entitled to a private life and you must try to respect his privacy. Most children, on the other hand, have a way of unfolding secrets when you least expect it. This is our chance to inspire confidence by proving ourselves uncritical and sympathetic.

MODERN WOMEN

By MARIAN MATS MARTIN

A Case Where the Wife Is Blamed Because Her Husband Shuns His Family

A GOOD husband has been a good son, a woman can depend on that. In the case of the man discussed in today's letter there may be no excuse for his attitude, and he may have good reason for it. Families have been known to abuse their privileges. They have been too exacting and have made demands that even the best son in the world would resent.

"Dear Mrs. Martin:—I have a very peculiar problem for your consideration and possible co-operation in solving. While it may not seem like much to you this same problem threatens my domestic life. For some months past my husband has refused to have much to do with his relatives. He says he is sick of hearing about their troubles and lending them money that they do not repay. He says the relatives business is worked to death, that the responsible members of any family always get the worst of it, while the grafters go round talking about family ties and that sort of thing. In this situation I get the worst of everything. His relatives say I encourage my husband to keep away from them, which is not the truth. I have tried time and again to dissuade him to resume friendly relations, but he keeps insisting that relatives annoy and depress him, that they destroy all the spunk he needs to fight his own battles. His mother and his sisters are very bitter against me, and nothing that I can do or say seems to remedy matters.

I am willing to make any reasonable sacrifice or approach to adjust these matters, and when I complain to my husband he merely says: 'Forget it.' It isn't very pleasant for me to have his relatives talking all over town about the trouble I stir up when I do nothing of the kind. I have no close relatives of my own and his family is my family, but if he won't accept his own what can I do?—R. J. C."

Yours is a curious problem indeed. Your husband must either have a very peculiar nature or else he has had some unpleasant, and I gather, unprofitable experiences with his family.

I think he owes it to you to set you right with his mother and sister. He should tell them candidly why he is assuming the position he is, and that he is doing it for his own good reasons which, if they have imposed on him, they will be able to understand. It is most unfair to have you shoulder all the blame and it is up to him to absolve you of it. Tell him so and insist on his doing it.

If HE refuses, which hardly seems possible, and certainly wouldn't be consistent with his ideas of co-operation and fair play, then tell him that you will be compelled to make the situation clear as you do not see why you should be placed in the wrong if this doesn't bring him to a realization of his duty toward you, go to his mother and sisters and tell them that you have done everything you know how to change his attitude, but that it does not seem to be possible for reasons they may know. Tell them that you wanted them to know why the situation was as it is and to understand that it is not your fault.

If their consciences are uneasy they are bound to believe you. I do not think your husband will force your hand in this way, but you owe it to yourself to vindicate yourself if your husband won't do it for you.

Don't force him into any relationship with his family that is distasteful to him. He may have excellent reasons for his attitude. Families do impose sometimes. If there is no evidence of this being the case his attitude is inexcusable.

Sandwich Man Recovers Balance Wants Old Job

NEW YORK, March 23.—UP—Exactly one month after a mental breakdown induced by the strain of being a ballyhooed public idol, Frank Grezes, 67, the sandwich man who rose to riches overnight, walked from Bellevue Hospital today, his sanity precariously restored.

Physicians said his mind still was susceptible to breakdown if he does not rest for some time, and recommended he spend additional weeks in a home for the aged.

But Grezes was pitifully anxious to get back to work—to hold the road berth given him by a broker—some firm when he returned $45,000 in bonds he found in the snow as he shuffled the streets as a sandwich man.

made by Roy A. Pyle, president of the American Radio Telegraphists Association.

TIE UP SHIPS

"Unless the strike is settled by Tuesday or Wednesday, we will call our men off all vessels," he said. "We believe this action will tie up all ships on the coast with the exception of those carrying less than 50 passengers, which are not required to have radio operators."

Four marine unions already are involved in the walkout, called March 9, by the Seamen's Union in protest against policies of tanker operators, specifically the Standard Oil company, with regard to union negotiations.

FEDERAL OFFICERS HERE

E. P. Marsh, federal conciliator, arrived here today from Washington, D. C., to intervene in the dispute. E. H. Fitzgerald, Los Angeles mediator, was expected to arrive shortly to assist Marsh. Officials of one union have announced their intention to ask Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins to take direct part in the arbitration when she arrives here from Berkeley tomorrow.

Explaining their action in terminating negotiations with the Seamen's Union, the tanker operators charged the union with making demands for a closed shop and exorbitant demands as to working conditions on which no satisfactory agreement could be reached.

At this point, it was charged, the operators offered to mediate the dispute by a means proposed in the seamen's award, but was refused.

NEW SCHEDULE

The operators claimed to know that "a majority of licensed and unlicensed employees are not in sympathy with the leadership in control of maritime unions," whom they characterized as "radical leaders."

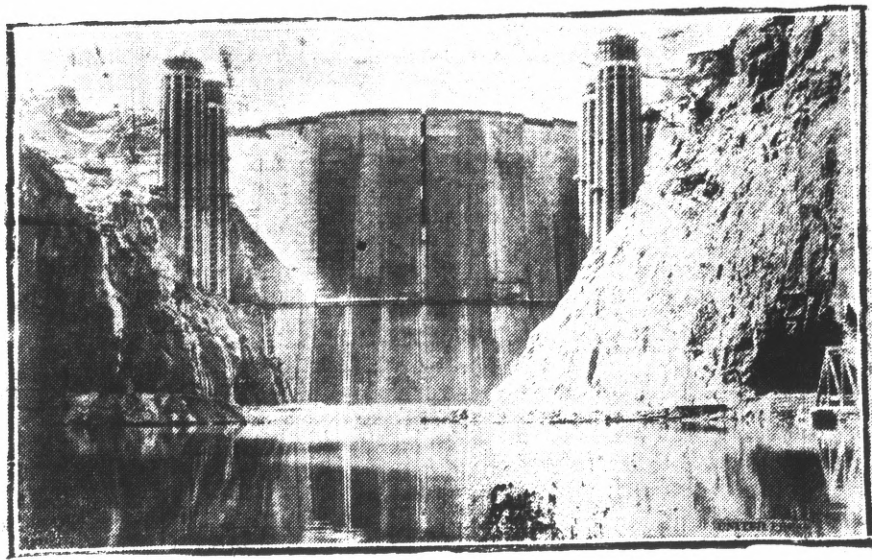

Operators have taken the stand, the statement said, that "inasmuch as they had never differentiated between union and non-union men, they would be placed in the position of discharging old and faithful employees who had no union affiliation."

It also was revealed that operators have set up a new wage schedule for coastwise vessels providing a "substantial increase" effective April 1.

Hoover Urges Re-Birth Of G. O. P. Party

eratic administration which he said had made the people "pawns" of a centralized and self-perpetuating bureaucratic government."

His demand for reorganization of the Republican party on a platform that will offer the people an opportunity to change present policies was echoed by Col. Roosevelt, son of the famous Teddy.

Visiting the conference of young Republicans organized to revitalize the party on a liberal basis, Hoover delivered the key-note address tonight, attacking the Democratic administration and insisting the Republican party must save America from drifting into destitution.

Col. Roosevelt outlined, what, in his opinion, must be done if America is to regain prosperity. He insisted that under proper Republican organization and leadership there must be more production and more wealth; increased standards of living; discontinuance of heavy government expenditures; curtailment of borrowing; economy in government; including abandonment of the gold standard; and discharge of 100,000 political appointees; restriction of public works projects to absolute necessities; revisions of taxes upwards; a return to the gold standard; and a program of unemployment insurance and old age program; stringent opposition to communism and deportation of aliens.

But there was general agreement that Hoover is well started on a maneuver designed to write his political and economic philosophy into the 1936 Republican campaign platform. In a letter to an assembly of California Republicans, he denounced the New Deal and summoned young men and women to rejuvenate the party organization.

HOOPER TALK DRAWS FIRE OF COMMENTS

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(UP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, has offered the Republican party restoration of the gold standard and attack on New Deal recovery experiments as a rallying point for the 1936 presidential campaign.

The man, discredited in Washington tonight whether Hoover seeks the presidential nomination for himself. Some of his candidates insist the former president desires merely the role of elder statesman.

HOOPER ON ROUGE

But there was general agreement that Hoover is well started on a maneuver designed to write his political and economic philosophy into the 1936 Republican campaign platform. In a letter to an assembly of California Republicans, he denounced the New Deal and summoned young men and women to rejuvenate the party organization.

"CALL TO ARMS"

Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican National committee cheered Hoover's words.

"The letter is a call to arms of all who believe in our American system of government and who realize that the New Deal has failed to bring up out of the depression," he said.

"Conditions throughout the country are worse than ever and there is no real hope of improvement as long as the administration persists in following its present confused and confusing policies."

House Republican Leader Bernard H. Snell said he agreed with Hoover.

Representative Robert Low Bacon, (R., N. Y.) said:

"The letter is a call for service to the country by a united and rejuvenated Republican party."

Progressive Republicans were silent or skeptical. Typical of Democratic comment was that of Senator Pat Harrison, D., Miss.:

"I just want to talk about live subjects. I don't want to read the statement."

Speaker Joseph W. Byrns said:

"Mr. Hoover's letter sounds to me like a bid for the presidential bacon."

Senator L. A. Dickinson, (R., Ia.):

"I do not view the speech as a bid for the presidential nomination. Mr. Hoover's statement is sound."

Of the New Deal, Hoover wrote that it jeopardized American principles with un-American government.

NO CONFLICT

There is no conflict between the objectives proposed by Hoover and those undertaken by President Roosevelt. Each is committed to security and a measure of contentment for the family, an opportunity to work proper control of business and protection against the dislocations of industry and the hazards of old age.

This debate relates to methods and Hoover has stated the issue upon which he expects the 1936 campaign to turn.

"The theories of this administration do not work. They are no longer a propaganda mill; they are self-exposed."

GIRL IS SUICIDE

PASADENA, March 23.—(UP)—Mary Ann Jones, 19-year-old junior college student, flunked an examination in philosophy. Today she was listed as the 65th victim of Pasadena's now notorious suicide bridge. She went home from school, dressed in a dashing brown checkered suit, walked to the bridge and leaped 150 feet to the rocky river bottom.

TURKS PLAN TO FORTIFY STRAIT ZONE

sion of the 16th anniversary of the founding of Fascism.

"Today the political weather is luminous as well as uncertain," just as this morning's sky," he said.

ADD TO ARMY

Besides thousands of Fascists, numerous detachments of young "fascists" were present, all equipped with machine guns. At the end of the speech there was a vociferous demonstration, the young Fascists waving their rifles and throwing hats in the air.

Calling of the class of 1911 involves an additional influx into the army of about 160,000 men. Two divisions of the class already are in service in east Africa. The total of 660,000 is reached because of the recent announcement that the class of 1913, which normally would be released on April 1, will be retained in service. On that date, the new class of 1914 will report for a year's compulsory service. Those called today were born in 1911.

TURKS TO FOLLOW HITLER

LONDON, March 23.—UP—Turkey is preparing to declare her intention of fortifying the Dardanelles Straits zone, following Germany's example in defying the Versailles treaty, diplomatic quarters understood tonight.

Serious international differences were feared if Turkey scraps the Straits convention, demilitarizing the Dardanelles and Bosphorus, several Aegean islands and zones on both sides of Turkey's Bulgarian and Greece frontiers.

AWAIT ACTION

It was assumed that if Turkey makes the reported move, it would lead inevitably to the fortification by Greece and Bulgaria of their sectors in the demilitarized zones.

Reliable quarters said Turkey was considering whether to act at once or await the result of the European negotiations over Germany's repudiation of the treaty.

Turkey is aware that Russia would not object to the remilitarization of the Straits, which would make a hostile advance into Russian waters more difficult by any power, Turkey is also confident that he fellow members of the Balkan Entente would be benevolently passive, but that Britain would be vehemently opposed.

ALLIES TO UNITE

PARIS, March 23.—UP—Great Britain, France and Italy agreed today on a united effort to persuade Germany to come to terms and avert war in Europe.

The powers were careful to avoid the appearance of putting pressure on Germany but it was obvious that her single-handed scrapping of the Versailles treaty would not be tolerated and Germany would be asked to join in an agreement which would modify and replace the treaty but still bind her to cooperate towards peace.

Concurrently with today's three-power conference, Italy called the class of 1911 to the colors, raising the strength of her army to 660,000 men. Premier Benito Mussolini also proclaimed that Italy's insistence that the nations keep the peace was backed by several million bayonets.

The court set aside Kenard's plea of guilty and entered one of not guilty after learning the man's record otherwise was clean.

Tearful Judge Kenard's refusal to hear the charges of a market proprietor whose potatoes were stolen.

"Thanks, Judge," he said brokenly, "I won't take anything that doesn't belong to me, again."

NEW RECORDS ARE SET BY PONTIAC FIRM

A. W. Washburn, of Washburn Brothers, the new Pontiac and Buick dealers in Richmond, reported yesterday that there is an excellent buying activity in the automotive field.

According to word received by Washburn from A. W. L. Gilpin, vice president and general sales manager of the Pontiac Motor company, February broke factory production and retail records for several years standing.

During that month 6,327 cars were turned out, to break all records for any single month since 1929, Washburn was informed.

Retail deliveries by Pontiac dealers amounted to 10,732 cars which established the month as the best February in six years.

The delivery figure shows a good increase over the 7,375 for January of this year and more than doubles the deliveries in February of 1934 which were 4,631 cars.

There is nothing to indicate that this record-breaking pace will let up materially for some time to come," stated Gilpin. "The popularity of the standard six is increasing rapidly as indicated by an upturn of 12.2 per cent in the number of unfilled orders on hand for standard six models."

"So that we may be able to take care of orders on hand with the least delay possible during March, 18,500 cars have been scheduled for production during the month."

A review of the export figures for January and February indicates the great improvement that is taking place in our overseas business. During the period 3,407 new Pontiacs were shipped to foreign countries which is greater than the total for the entire twelve months of 1934 when our export shipments were 2,918.

"Without any doubt the country is in a more enthusiastic buying mood than it has been for years. Money is coming into the marts of trade from many different avenues. Much of it, no doubt, is money that heretofore has been afraid to show itself. It has been out of circulation hiding in some strong box or in a bank account."

"Of course, hundreds of millions of dollars are being spent that have been put into the buyers' pockets by Uncle Sam, either through farm relief, CWA, PWA, HOLC or a dozen and one other Federal agencies."

Talbot Is Freed From San Quentin

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—(UP)—San Quentin's famous "millionaire row" was minus two of its most esteemed members when the roll was called tonight.

Gone, and one might add, but not forgotten, were James A. Talbot, once president of the $200,000,000 Richmond Oil company, and Harold G. Ferguson, who at one time headed a $600,000 real estate firm, bearing his name.
